KEWALO INJUNCTION
SUIT TO GET HEARING

Action in circuit court on the bill for injunction brought by Cecil Brown against the Territory, to check the Kewalo and kindred reclamation projects probably will be taken within the next day or two, at least by the end of the present week.

On a stipulation filed in the court yesterday the Territory is given until Friday to file its answer to the petition, and Assistant Attorney General A. G. Smith, now preparing the answer, says he expects to file it within a few hours, and will do all in his power to hurry it up to the supreme court in the shortest possible time.

SEC. SUPER
DAYS IN EAST

Paul Super, general secretary of the local Young Men's Christian Association, returned from the mainland this morning on the Lurline after an absence of three months during which time, the Y. M. C. A. man visited twenty-two cities, attended numerous Association, inter-church, and social service conferences, and engaged four new officials for the local Young Men's Christian Association.

All four men will assume their new duties on September 1; Lloyd R. Kilham who is an experienced association man will act as Assistant General Secretary; LeRoy Johnson, who holds the record for the mile run for the Mississippi Valley is to be physical director for the Boy's department, Fred W. Lan who received his training at the Portland Y. M. C. A. will be the men's physical director to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Hand, and J. A. Unice of Coe College will assume the duties of office secretary.

With his return, the general secretary also brought the news that John R. Mott and Sherwood Eddy, Y. M. C. A. specialists of world-wide fame, will visit Honolulu in May to inspect the local Y. M. C. A. plant and to pass judgment upon it. In January, Raymond Robbins and Fred B. Smith will arrive here to conduct the meetings of the Men and Religion Forward movement. While in Cleveland, the general secretary paid a visit to Munsen Havens, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and discussed with him the question of co-ordinated charities. In Cleveland the plan has worked more successfully than any other city in the country.

As a result of his conference, Super has many new ideas in regard to a system of united charities which he intends to present to the Associated Charities for approval.

THAT "COLLEEN" OF POET
AYRES
STARTED FORT ST. PULLING HAIRS

Poetic License with the Muse in One Family Played the Deuce

It's a "colleen whose eyes are true blue," poetically brought before the girlish gaze of a reading public through the editorial page in the morning paper, that caused the first round in the shattering of domestic tranquillity in the H. M. Ayres family, resulting in a fast and furious encounter which drew hundreds of surprised spectators to the corner of Fort and King street at a time when noon tide activity usually prevades that section of the down town district.

H. M. Ayres, poet and author, accompanied by Miss Julia Vince, appeared in the center of police court spot light this morning, as they sat in judgment before Magistrate Monsarratt, to answer to the charge of assault and battery upon the person of Mrs. Ayres.

It was the fair and demure Julia, that the fiery darts of wrath were flashed from the eyes of Mrs. Ayres, as she mounted the stand and then there unfolded a sensational tale of woe and domestic infelicity.

"That is the woman whom Ayres, my husband refers to in his poem, as 'a dainty colleen and a worshipful queen,' pointing a finger of scorn in the direction of Miss Vince, who sat beside the author of the offending ditty, and awaited the torrent of accusation.

Attorney Murphy handled the case for Mrs. Ayres. Upon a charge of assault and battery preferred by her husband and Miss Vince, Mrs. Ayres was assessed a fine of fifteen dollars and the trimmings.

Her attorney noted an appeal and announced later that he proposed to carry the case to the highest tribunal. They say he end is not yet.

The tables were then turned and Ayres was made defendant in a charge of assault and battery by his wife, in which Mrs. Ayres alleged that her husband had slapped her face repeatedly. The little eleven year old daughter of the pair was called to the stand, and amid a copious flow of childish tears in a degree corroborated the testimony from the mother.

The evidence against Ayres was however held as insufficient by Judge Monsarratt and he was found not guilty. Ayres defended his own case, waving aside the proffered legal assistance of Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Milverton.

SMUGGLING PUT UP TO SCHWERIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 21.—There will be no further proceedings in the Pacific Mail steamship smuggling cases until R. P. Schwerin, vice-president and general manager of the company, returns from Washington, where he is now temporarily located, in the interests of the Pacific Mail's efforts to win free tolls for railroad-owned steamships through the Panama Canal.

Announcement to this effect was made by United States District Attorney John L. McNab in moving for a continuance of the hearing of one of the Pacific Mail captains, Henry Zee, yesterday before United States Commissioner Brown.

McNab used plain language in announcing the government's intention hereafter of fighting the smugglers with the aid of the chief executives of the big steamship companies.

Trade Can Be Stopped.
"An experiment has been made in arresting and prosecuting the men actually discovered in smuggling attempts," declared McNab. "Beyond the

Maintaining A Standard

There are different makes of clothes on the market, but we know that the BENJAMIN are the best, and that they maintain the standard for high-class clothing. BENJAMIN clothes rank first among them. We never had a single complaint about this make of men's clothes, and when a man once wears a BENJAMIN he becomes a permanent customer.

Individual prosecutions little else has been accomplished, and, while this method of arresting and prosecuting every person engaged in opium smuggling from the vessels will be continued, the government believes that with the aid of the big officials of the companies the operations of the smugglers on the vessels can be stopped.

For that reason the Zeeder and other similar cases will go over until such time as Schwerin returns, which, I understand, may be within the next fortnight. The government desires to ask Schwerin, as the general manager of the Pacific Mail, upon whose vessels the most daring smuggling attempts have been made, for his cooperation and that of his executive staff in curbing the traffic in drugs.

Watch by Ship's Officers.
"It is reasonable to suppose that a rigorous watch by the ship's officers would aid in putting an end to the traffic. As soon as Schwerin arrives we will ask him for his cooperation in fighting the smugglers. If we receive it there is little doubt that the smuggling, if not entirely eradicated, will be minimized. If the steamship company, however, continues to assume an indifferent attitude toward the government, I shall go to Washington personally and urge the Treasury Department to impose maximum fines and penalties on those who are found to have anything to do with the business.

"There has been too much indifference toward the government's policy manifested by the steamship companies engaged in transpacific trade recently, and the government intends going after results."

It is understood that McNab intends suggesting to Schwerin systematic daily searches of the ship's quarters for evidence of smuggling activities.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES TO GET $40,000 IN PAY

"Within the period of forty-eight hours beginning this morning, Assistant Territorial Treasurer Henry Hays will pay out more than $40,000 in cash to government employees. Most of this amount is being paid out today, though a large number of warrants will be presented tomorrow by some who are unable to present them in person today.
